Emergency Services Introduces New Logo

Leonardtown, MD – Last fall, the St. Mary's County Department of Emergency Services was separated from the Department of Information Technology. Since then, the department has worked to establish its own unique identity among employees and county citizens.

To solidify the Emergency Services brand, the department has designed a logo depicting all First Responder partners in the county (Fire Departments, Rescue Squads, Emergency Medical Services, Law Enforcement and county Tele-communicators). The new design will become part of future uniform shirts

“We believe the new logo is symbolic of how the Department of Emergency Services is circled around our major discipline partners we work with,” said Steve Walker, Emergency Services Director. “This will further bring home the point of how we, working together, help to protect and serve the citizens and visitors in the county.”

Inside the logo features a red line for Fire, a green line for EMS, yellow line for 911 Dispatch and blue line for Law Enforcement. The logo, approved by the Commissioners of St. Mary's County at their June 12 meeting, is not intended to replace the county seal. The logo will work in concert with the seal.

The department will begin to incorporate its new logo effective July 1.
